

Ocala, Florida

Diverse. Luxurious. Distinctive.

Marion County:

Home of Equestrian Diversity

Marion County's equestrian community is as diverse as it is prestigious, with trainers from every discipline calling horse country their home. From thoroughbred breeders to eventing, hunter-jumper, and dressage competitors, Ocala has something to offer every horse owner looking to take their particular equine venture to the next level. Ocala has been home to a number of prominent equestrians and thoroughbred champions over the years, due in no small part to our area's ideal climate perfect for year-round training and our historic legacy of equine excellence. As the core of Florida's $6.5 billion horse industry, Ocala continues to effortlessly hold the title of Horse Capital of the World.

Luxury Living in the Heart of Horse Country

Though Marion County is most famous for its reputation as a leader of equine industries, it's also the epicenter for active, luxury lifestyles. North Central Florida's stunning natural beauty, year-round sunny climate, and dense concentration of golf clubs make it a haven for those who love sports and the outdoors, and the options are endless. Locals like to joke that we're an hour or less away from everything—but it's true. Beach lovers have their choice of the Gulf or the Atlantic, each only about an hour away in either direction. The Rainbow and Withlacoochee Rivers are well within reach of kayakers, canoers, and boaters, and of course, the Ocala National Forest and Florida Cross Greenway offer adventures for hikers, bikers, and trail riders right here at home.
